

I am writing to express my disapproval of the measure before the FCC to weaken the "No Call" law in Indiana. The people of Indiana made the choice to pass this law and it should remain OUR choice whether it continues NOT the big business's for which it is meant to protect us from. The constant ringing of my phone with people hawking services and products I don't want nor need was absurd! By going on the No Call list, my home is more peaceful and I do not have to deal with rude and annoying people who think now is the best time to sell me the one thing that would make my life easier...whatever they're selling.

PLEASE leave the Indiana law intact and let us consumers decide who to call when WE want to inquire or purchase services or products.

Thank-you,
Tracy Purcell
